May News 2010

Well the sprint for the finish line is finally here, and I am very excited for the lessons that lie ahead this month. This month's lessons will incorporate a lot of new material and the use of our new smart board which should bring us a whole new level of interactive learning. This month in Kindergarten and K-1 we will be exploring the keyboard further and going over how to use our "home row" hand position with all the keys. We will also be going over our font menu and how to manipulate our font color, size, and text effects.

First grade is now ready to get into Power Point and start creating slide shows. We will be going over how to arrange a show, different slide designs, and transition effects. We will also be going over how to save and input different types of media into a slide show. The final assignment will have the students creating a show all on their own.

I hope everyone is having a great year and ready for all the challenges that lie ahead.
